Notes

* It should be noted that a part of the Greater Vancouver-Sea to Sky region (approximately North Vancouver to Whistler) is technically outside of the true Fraser River watershed boundary. However, this area is included on this map and within the analysis in this report because this is part of the area of interest and operations of the Fraser Basin Council.

The Fraser Basin

<sup>1</sup> It is important to note that Indian Reserves were established during European colonial settlement and do not reflect the pre-contact settlement patterns, use and management of traditional territories, or title and rights of First Nations in BC, which are being defined through treaties and the courts.
